

Business Environment

Hall County is a vibrant and growing area in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains. The area offers a sound economic future for business and industry with a strong representation of law firms, financial institutions, convention centers, hotels and business service companies. This is illustrated by the fact that 47 Fortune 500 firms, more than 300 manufacturing and processing companies, and 51 international companies representing 16 foreign countries call Hall County home. Georgia's Governor Nathan Deal and Lt. Governor Casey Cagle both reside in Hall County.

Companies located near Tanners Creek include names such as Rockwell Automation, Avery Labels, King's Hawaiian, Kubota and the William Wrigley Company.

In Tanners Creek you will find Atlanta Biologicals, Bitzer US, Homestar Financial, Global Resources International and the new VA Center among others.